

The Seeadler was built using Birch plywood and the underside of the fuselage was finished with fabric applied over the plywood. The whole glider was painted with several coats of glossy Clear Dope for waterproofing.

For land operations a special deep skid was added

Removable water rudder

Seeadler - Hans Jacobs - 1935

Drawn by: Vincent Cockett - 2011
 Updated: March 24th - 2014